

ASN Project Firstline Broadcast Session: Speaker Bios and Headshots
June 4, 2025

Priya Nori, MD - Moderator

Dr. Priya Nori is an adult Infectious Diseases physician at the Montefiore Health System/Albert Einstein College of Medicine where she directs the Antimicrobial Stewardship Program and is an Associate Professor of Medicine.

Tiffany Holm, BSN, RN - Panelist

Tiffany Holm is a clinical nurse manager for Sanford Health and lives in Northern Minnesota. She has worked in dialysis for over 15 years. Tiffany began her career in dialysis as a technician and knew she found her place. She continued her education and became an RN and has been in that role for 11 years. For the past 10 years, Tiffany has held a leadership position in the White Earth Dialysis Unit and for three years, she has managed the Detroit Lakes Dialysis Unit. Dialysis is Tiffany's calling, and she is passionate about her team, patients and their families.

Rason Hunter, CCHT - Panelist

Rason Hunter currently works for Fresenius Kidney Care as the Regional Lead for the Eastern Virginia area. He is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in nursing. He has been in Nephrology for 28 years and has been the Regional Lead for the past 4 years. Rason is currently also serving as the Area Access Manager, Water Room Expert, and Clinical Floor Preceptor. He is also the President of the Virginia chapter of the National Association for Nephrology Technicians. Rason's current role focuses on regulatory compliance, participating in area strategic plans, ensuring alignment for goals and objectives with those of the region, as well as providing leadership support and guidance to facility management including clinical and technical staff. Rason is a co-editor for Fresenius Medical Care's Preceptor Pulse newsletter.

ASN Project Firstline Broadcast Session: Speaker Bios and Headshots
June 4, 2025

Michelle Monk, MSW, RYT 200 - Panelist

Michelle Monk is the Clinical Social Work Coordinator for the UVA Health Dialysis Program, has been a dialysis social worker for UVA Health for the past 12 years, and has a special interest in supporting patient adjustment, potential barriers, complex mental health and behavioral health patient needs in the outpatient dialysis and CKD settings. Prior to dialysis, she worked in Northern Virginia doing advocacy, community planning and quality assurance work for the older adult and Medicare beneficiary population. Michelle enjoys yoga, mindfulness practice, meditation and being outside in nature and works to help patients discover these and other tools to cope with day-to-day challenges and enhance personal joy and quality of life.

Unini Odama, MD, MPH, MBE - Panelist

Dr. Odama is a nephrologist, public health practitioner, and bioethicist. She received her medical training at the University of Jos in Nigeria, completed her internal medicine training at Michael Reese/University of Illinois, pursued a fellowship in general nephrology and kidney transplantation at Virginia Commonwealth University, earned her Master of Public Health (MPH) from Emory University, and obtained her Master of Bioethics (MBE) from Harvard Medical School's Center for Bioethics. Dr. Odama's experience includes serving as a health director for the Georgia Department of Public Health and being the physician lead for infection management and kidney health equity at Davita Kidney Care. She is also a teaching instructor for the Masters of Bioethics program and an Affiliate at Harvard Medical School's Center for Bioethics. Her recent publications include "A Patient-Centered Approach to Kidney Care," and her interests include preventing chronic diseases and health policy.